CPO: Continuing to Accommodate

Civilian Personnel Office provides reasonable accommodations for employees with disabilities at meetings and training sessions

A significant number of employees at the Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center and Presidio of Monterey are physically challenged in some way. The full participation of these individuals in meetings and in training sessions can be limited when "reasonable accommodations" are not made. These accommodations include sign language interpreters for hearing-impaired employees. DLIFLC & POM has recently established a contract for sign language interpreting services with the Monterey County Valley Advocacy & Communication Center (VACC) for individuals who are deaf or hearing impaired. If a civilian employee needs assistance, VACC can be contacted directly to arrange for these services no later than 72 hours before the meeting or training.

All employees (military and civilian) who are arranging for meetings or training should be sensitive to the special accommodations that potential participants may require. At least one session of all mandatory training courses must have a sign language interpreter. Announcements of such sessions should state that interpreters are available. Also, announcements for all other meetings and classes must include the following statement: "please advise if any accommodations are required for attendees". Every effort will be made to meet any reasonable accommodations requested. No one will be excluded from meetings and training classes because of a physical disability.

For sign language interpreting services, you can contact VACC directly by calling 753-6540 or 753-6541(TDD). If you have any questions or need further information please call the CPO at 242-5149 (ask for Wendy Smith).

Investigative Agency changes name

Among a sweeping number of changes included in the Defense Reform Initiative released by Secretary of Defense William S. Cohen on Nov. 10, it was announced that the Defense Investigative Service would be redesignated as the Defense Security Service (DSS). On Nov. 25, 1997, Department of Defense Reform Initiative Directive #2, directed immediate implementation of this name change.

In addition to the name change, the Defense Reform Initiative approved the functional integration of the Department of Defense Polygraph Institute, the Personnel Security Research Center, and the Department of Defense Security Institute into the DSS structure.

These activities, which currently function as separate and independent organizational elements of DIS, would be functionally integrated into DSS, as appropriate, to support the overall DSS mission of providing security services to the Department. This change will enable the functions of these activities to be performed at an enhanced level of effectiveness, while streamlining the entire organizational structure.

It was also proposed that DSS would report to a newly-established Assistant Secretary of Defense (Intelligence) formed from part of the current Assistant Secretary of Defense (Command, Control, Communications, and Intelligence).

Note: Questions regarding this news release may be directed to the DSS Office of Congressional and Public Affairs at (703) 325-9471.

Volunteer for AFAP:

Attention retirees, DoD civilians, active service members of all branches of service (single, dual military, sole parent), and family members:

POM - You want a better quality of life. You've got a lot to offer, great ideas, perhaps even solutions, but you haven't had a chance to talk to the top. The upcoming Army Family Action Plan Symposium, to be held Mar. 11 and 12 at the Weckerling Center (Building 326), Presidio of Monterey, can help you.

But first you'll need to put your thoughts in writing on the "Army Family Concerns and Issues Worksheet" and fill out the "Symposium Registration Form," which are available at Army Community Service (Building 4260), POM Annex (former Fort Ord). If you cannot attend the symposium but want to know the results of your comments, Army Community Service can send them to you if you include your name and address on the worksheet.

The AFAP Symposium joins a cross section of community members (service members, retirees, civilians and family members) together to discuss concerns/ideas for improving the quality of life in the community or service wide. Concerns that relate to Presidio of Monterey only will be addressed locally. Issues that require higher headquarters resolutions will be developed and forwarded to the Department of the Army to be addressed at the bi-annual conference held in October. Any issue you submit will be addressed.

Each military community member can be a part of the grass roots process that directly helps shape the Army of the future -- a positive process enhancing readiness and increasing retention by improving the quality of life for service members and their families. Find out more about being a part of the AFAP Symposium. Call ACS at 242-7660.

Nearly 200 Ski Resorts Rally for the Military!

Nearly 200 ski resorts in 31 states are offering special deals for patrons of MWRs this season as part of Operation Ski and Snowboard (OpSki), the annual snowsports program developed especially for the Armed Forces. Details of the deals are available at Outdoor Recreation and include over 60 FREE offers and over 100 Learn-To-Ski or Snowboard deals. OpSki is open to active duty, retirees, reserve, civilians with MWR privileges and their families.

The newest edition of the OpSki Military Snowsports Guide has hundreds of terrific deals. All you need to do is stop by Outdoor Recreation, Building 228, Lewis Hall, on the Presidio of Monterey and find the deal you want, pick up a GoSki&Board Coupon which you simply present at the resort along with your government ID. You'll need a Coupon for each participant and there's no limit to how many times you can take advantage of the offers!

This year, as an added bonus, the Coupon also includes an entry form for the OpSki National Sweepstakes with over 185 prizes.

The OpSki Guide also includes a listing of 49 bases that have special ticketing arrangements with resorts. This is the first time bases have had this information available in a single source.

You can now plan everything from a local day ski trip to a week long vacation across the country and utilize established base ticket arrangements.

Operation Ski and Snowboard program is provided at no cost to the government. It is supported entirely by manufacturers.

"Over 1/4 million ski tickets are sold on military bases," according to Larry Bearfield, OpSki Executive Director. "While OpSki is designed to help bring better deals for the avid skiers and boarders, we want to encourage the non-snowsports people to give it a try. You're never too old - or young! And virtually all ski areas are set up to help you learn." OpSki-programs fully support Operation BeFit, the special wellness initiative recently announced by the DoD.

A new addition to the OpSki program this season is the Budweiser SNO!!!JAM on-mountain event series expressly for MWR patrons. The multi-day events, with special ski 'n stay packages, will include fun races, entertainment, prizes, family activities and apres ski times. Six sites have been chosen for this season and include Killington, VT, Berkshire East, MA, Heavenly, CA, Attitash Bear Peak, NH, Sunday River, ME and Steamboat, CO.

Details of the SNO!!!JAM series along with full OpSki information is also available on the OpSki website <http://www.opski.com>

Israel Plants 10,000-Tree Forest in King's Honor

By Rudi Williams
American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON — In the red earth on a hill in biblical Galilee overlooking sites where Jesus preached, thousands of trees flourish on once-barren land in a forest named in honor Martin Luther King Jr.

Young trees planted there years ago have grown from saplings into a tall antidote to Israel's arid land.

When the slain civil rights leader's son, Martin Luther King III, visited Israel in 1987, he planted a pine sapling honoring his father and said: "This tree symbolizes the continuity of my father's mission."

Many trees were already growing when the the Jewish National Fund's Forest of the Righteous Gentiles established the King forest in 1976 with the ceremonial planting of 39 trees, symbolizing each year of his life. The forest is in Turan, near Nazareth, said Robert Francks of the Jewish National Fund.

"Righteous gentiles" usually refers to non-Jews who saved Jews from being killed in the Holocaust, Francks said. "But in a broader definition, righteous gentiles are non-Jews who have shown solidarity with the State of Israel and supported the Jewish people," he said.

Members of the Congressional Black Caucus and Jewish congressional members serve as the memorial forest's honorary sponsors. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, corporations and many other organizations and individuals, black and white, raise money for trees, Francks noted.

Rev. Robert A. Pruitt, pastor of African Methodist Episcopal Metropolitan Church in Washington, said during a ceremony at the forest, "Martin Luther King Jr. was great for his love of mankind, whether Christian or Jewish. How fitting that he be remembered by planting trees here. He may be buried, but his leaves are still blooming here in these hills, holy to both peoples [Americans and Israelis]."

"The forest was donated primarily by American Jews wishing to honor Dr. King," said Lenore Siegelman of the American Jewish Congress. "There is great commitment among Jews to the human rights principles Dr. King represented."

"We honor him as a man of courage and vision, a man of great dreams and great actions, a seeker of nonviolence and peace," Siegelman said. "His leadership of the civil rights struggle is a chapter in American history from which all of us can draw inspiration and renewed strength. Dr. King made contributions of enduring value to the life of our nation."

"Being an arid country, trees are very precious in Israel," Francks said. "Trees represent human beings. When there is a forest fire, it becomes almost a personal loss to people in Israel. People feel a very deep emotion."

Hundreds of trees are added to the forest during King's birth month each year. The Jewish National Fund is responsible for planting and maintaining the forests. Tree-planting is part of an ongoing effort by the Jewish National Fund to fill once-barren hills of Israel with greenery. In the last 50 years, the fund has planted more than 200 million trees in Israel, Francks said.

YOUR TAX ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Tax preparation is perceived as so complicated and time consuming that many service members will not attempt it. Rather, they will pay another agency to prepare their taxes. Many service members who do pre-prepare their own taxes fail to claim legitimate deductions and credits.

Others needlessly pay commercial organizations to prepare simple tax returns. Some unsuspecting service members fall victim to a few unscrupulous firms which offer income tax refund discounting schemes. These schemes are generally illegal and charge the user an unreasonable interest rate. Members of our military community deserve better care and should not have to hire a commercial tax preparer to get their taxes prepared in most cases. The military has an interest in ensuring that its people file their income tax returns accurately and expeditiously. Your military community has a Tax Assistance Program to accomplish all that. You should take advantage of it!

YOU DON'T NEED TO PAY A TAX PREPARER

The Tax Assistance Program is a command directed program. It is designed to provide federal and state income tax preparation assistance to service members and their family members, free of charge. Electronic filing of returns will be available to provide quick refunds.

The Legal Assistance Office has arranged for the training of specially selected members of each unit to learn the ins and outs of federal and state income taxation so they can assist the military and their families. Training is Jan. 20-24 for federal taxes and Jan. 27-29. After the classes, individuals may obtain forms and assistance from their appointed Unit Tax Advisor.

The program is run with the cooperation of the Internal Revenue

Service and the California Franchise Tax Board and supervised by your Legal Assistance Office. When commanders stress the program it functions smoothly and effectively. The program consists of the following components:

Unit Tax Advisors. Because of the large number of service members in our community who will need assistance in filing income tax returns, it is impossible for the legal assistance office to assist in the preparation of all returns. Accordingly assistance to service members will be primarily from designated unit tax advisors. One or more tax advisors are appointed for each company size unit. These soldiers are trained in federal income preparation by IRS and California tax authority instructors. Unit Tax Advisors will assist soldiers in their unit in preparing their returns. The Legal Assistance Office provides them with tax preparation software to audit proof the returns. Questions beyond the expertise of the Unit Tax Advisor will be referred to the legal assistance office. No unit personnel will be seen by a legal assistance attorney for tax questions unless referred by a Unit Tax Advisor.
